EXPLORE THE BRUSSELS-CAPITAL REGION

Welcome to Brussels, the capital of the Kingdom of Belgium and of Europe. This is the heart of the European Union. You are less than two hours by train from London, Paris, Amsterdam and Cologne. Have you also noticed that you hear so many languages here? That is no surprise. Because here you are in the most cosmopolitan city in Europe. A city that lives every moment of the day. Here, you can attend more than 23,000 cultural events every year.

And yet Brussels is a city on a human scale. A compact city where you can easily get around on foot, by bike, bus, tram or metro. Make sure you meet the people of Brussels. You will notice that they are friendly and hospitable. A bit atypical, perhaps. But then, Brussels is the capital of surrealism, comic strips, art nouveau, chocolate and beer.

Go and discover. From the most beautiful square in the world to the thousands of hidden places. And don't forget to eat well. Because that is part of the tradition here. Did you know that half of Brussels is green? That living is cheaper here than in most other capital cities? You will soon notice that. Because Brussels is a city where everyone feels at home.

RACE INFORMATION

The countdown to the next race has begun. What you still need from us, naturally, is the course information. Below you can find all the information to help you enjoy the race on 5 June.

DE MUUR AGAIN

The route of the Brussels Cycling Classic has changed a bit since last year and thus a little refreshment will not hurt. After the start in the Jubelpark, the peloton heads to Tervuren, where the official start signal for the race of 203.9 km will be sounded. After nearly 50 km of racing, the riders are faced with the Rue du Croiseau, the first of a total of 10 climbs.

With a little less than 90 km to go, it's time for the first passage in Geraardsbergen and thus the Muur-Bosberg duo followed by the Congoberg on Galmaarden soil. That trio is then tackled for a second time before the peloton heads for Brussels. Two cobblestoned sections and the Heiligekeuswegstraat in Schepdaal, Evenepoel's hometown, await in the full finale.

Read on and choose your favourite spot along the course or discover at what time the riders will be passing in front of your house!

HOW CAN I FOLLOW THE RACE?

Are you the type of fan who prefers to watch the finale from the comfort of your own sofa and do not necessarily want to smell the sweat of the riders? Or do you like to experience the race from a slightly greater distance and prefer to follow it via social media? Both are possible!

ON THE EDGE OF YOUR SEAT

For some people, “following” the race is still a priority over “experiencing” the race. And perhaps you are also someone who is already dreaming of a piece of cake with coffee or the chilled pint and crisps that are, for you, inextricably linked to watching the race.

Then on Sunday 5 June, the best thing to do is to drop onto your sofa at around 3 p.m. The finale can be followed closely both in Belgium and abroad. Discover below all the broadcasting channels on which you can comment on the Brussels Cycling Classic from your own living room. Happy watching!
